

HELP CHART MINNEAPOLIS' COURSE

For more than 50 years, the City of Minneapolis has been reshaped and revitalized by its community development efforts, which have included housing, new business development, and job growth, as well as neighborhood safety and character. Today, new financial realities challenge the City's community development programs including the Neighborhood Revitalization Program (NRP) and the Minneapolis Community Development Agency (MCDA). The Mayor, City Council and the people of Minneapolis need to reassess the City's spending priorities and revisit the role of community development.

Attend a community meeting reviewing Minneapolis' community development efforts and current challenges. Establish a foundation of facts and begin this important dialogue.

Don't miss this opportunity.
